

HEARST IS BURIED AT THE PRIMARIES; LABOR AGAINST HIM

In Brooklyn, if John F. McCooey decides to deliver them, and he will probably be ordered to do so by Mayor Ryan.

The result of the primaries shows that William J. Conners is either maintained about Hearst sentiment up-State or is deliberately misrepresenting the facts. Mr. Hearst made his poorest showing in industrial districts in the Upper Hudson Valley, where there is considerable labor unrest which his lieutenants hoped to capitalize.

Throughout the State and Greater New York the regular organization candidates for all offices, with less than half a dozen exceptions, were nominated. The vote was generally small.

Cohoes gave the Hearst delegates only 110 votes to 1,026 for the regular delegates. The largest part of the Cohoes population is made up of textile workers. In some of the districts which include the Delaware and Hudson Railroad shops, whose men are on strike, the Hearst candidates got no votes at all. Southern wards in Albany city gave Hearst only two and three votes to a district.

Through Patrick E. McCabe, former Democratic leader of Albany County, Hearst supporters conducted a wholesale campaign. Money was spent lavishly for advertising and for the maintenance of headquarters, while the regular Democratic organization paid little attention to the campaign.

In the Republican primary the old Barnes organization came back into its own in spite of a bitter fight made by the insurgents, who for the last few years have been trying to break the Barnes control.

The regular candidates for all legislative and county offices won up State as they did in the city. Henry M. Sage, regular candidate for State Senator from Albany, against whom the insurgents made their hardest fight, will head the regular ticket.

Police Commissioner Enright of this city will have three delegates from Steuben County who are committed to him, according to returns from Bath, N. Y. Steuben County was Mr. Enright's.

The county delegation will support Enright for Governor. The only other result that the county sold for Enright would be an even split of the delegation, three for Enright and three for Hearst.

"WETS" AND "DRYS" ARE ABOUT EVEN IN UP-STATE CONTESTS

Three Candidates for Congress, Backed by Anti-Liquor Forces, Defeated.

ALBANY, Sept. 20 (Associated Press).—Honors appeared about evenly divided to-day in the Congressional contests up-State where the Prohibition enforcement issue was raised.

In three districts, candidates supported by the allied "dry" organizations were defeated, while in two others designed backed by the strict Prohibition enforcement were victorious.

In another case where the "wet" and "dry" issue was raised—the Thirty-seventh Congressional District—the vote was so close the result is in doubt.

H. Westlake Coons, who was supported by the enforcement element in the Republican primaries in the 27th Congressional District, was defeated by Representative Charles B. Ward.

Milton J. Ogburn, for whom the "dry" forces spoke a kindly word in his contest for the Republican Congressional nomination was defeated by Charles M. Winchester, in the Twenty-eighth District.

John W. Slacer, who sought the Republican Congressional nomination in the 40th District, and who had the strong support of the Prohibition forces, and John H. Leggett, "moderately dry," were defeated by Representative Stephen W. Dempsey, in the 40th Congressional District, which includes Niagara and part of Erie County.

Mayor Theron Akin of Amsterdam, who was opposed by the "dry" forces in his contest for the Republican nomination, for Representative in Congress from the 30th District, was defeated by Representative Frank Crowther, who had the endorsement of the "Drys" and by George H. Deery for the Democratic.

In the 31st Congressional District, Gustave A. Kinkel, who was avowedly a "wet" candidate was badly beaten by Representative Clarence McGregor.

Among the newer ribbons are handsome tinsel brocades, chiffon gauzes in metallic effects, colored metal ribbons, steel, silver, gold, and antique in various widths.

Less elaborate, but just as varied are two-toned satins, moires, failles, picot edges, and high lustre satins in black and colors. Besides, there are velvet ribbons with satin or taffeta backs.

An unusual assortment of narrow and lingerie ribbons may be had in many styles and widths.

Of particular interest is our extensive collection of ribbon novelties made in our Ribbon Department—garters, sachets, flowers and rosettes, as well as sashes with buckle effects now in demand for Fall frocks.
